

Become a Trustee for the UK's largest breast cancer charity

We are an ambitious and growing charity funding nearly £24 million worth of research projects, supporting nearly 450 researchers at 29 institutions across the UK and Ireland.

You will bring experience and expertise to oversee the fantastic work being undertaken to save and improve lives and help ensure the charity has maximum impact. Our Trustee Board meets six times a year and the total time required will be 10 to 15 working days per year.

You will be an active leading researcher with a strong track record in your chosen research field; have demonstrable governance and/or management experience at Board level; have a broad knowledge of breast cancer research and the breast cancer research ecosystem.
